

Committee on Subsidies and Countervailing Measures

NOTIFICATION OF LAWS AND REGULATIONS
UNDER ARTICLE 32.6 OF THE AGREEMENT

Supplement

The Committee decided in its special meeting of 22 February 1995 that all Members which have new or existing legislation and/or regulations which apply in whole or in part to countervailing duty investigations or reviews covered by the Agreement shall notify the full and integrated text of that legislation and/or regulations to the Committee by 15 March 1995. If such legislation and/or regulations do not exist or are not yet available, the Member will inform the Committee of this fact, will explain the reasons therefore, and will provide an indicative date by which time a notification is expected. As further agreed by the Committee, these notifications will be treated as unrestricted documents.

The Committee also adopted the following decision regarding Observer governments:

An Observer government shall provide the Committee with any information the Observer government considers relevant to matters within the purview of the Agreement, including the text of its laws and regulations regarding countervailing duties, and information regarding any countervailing measures taken by the Observer government. At the request of any Member or the Observer government itself, any matter contained in such information may be brought to the attention of the Committee after governments have been allowed sufficient time to examine the information.

Laws and regulations submitted by Observer governments in response to this invitation will be circulated as addenda to G/SCM/N/1.
