11. Structural adjustment assistance provided through investment aids	The Agriculture Productivity Fund (APF) helps farmers in Singapore develop higher technology farming capabilities. The APF enables the structural transformation of the farming sector in Singapore to promote land-efficient farming given Singapore's unique space constraints. The APF supports the purchase of equipment that would help increase farm's productivity (through the Basic Capability Upgrading (BCU) Scheme); and supports the adoption of automated, advanced and integrated farming systems (through the Productivity Enhancement (PE) Scheme). All APF projects with approved funding of S$30,000 and above are eligible for cash advances of up to 30%, to ease the farms' cash flow.	11.08	Singapore Food Agency (SFA)
