3 DESCRIPTION OF THE FUNCTIONING OF THE STATE TRADING ENTERPRISE

A. Summary statement providing overview of operations of the state trading enterprise

See response under heading 3.C.

B. Specification of exclusive or special rights or privileges enjoyed by the state trading enterprise

See response under heading 3.C.

C. Type of entities other than the state trading enterprise that are allowed to engage in importation/exportation and conditions for participation

In the products of which the import is currently subject to state trading administration, i.e. wheat, maize, rice, sugar, cotton, chemical fertilizer, crude oil, processed oil and tobacco listed in Annex 2A1 of the Protocol on the Accession of the People's Republic of China, wheat, maize, rice, sugar, cotton, urea, diammonium phosphate and NPK compound-fertilizer have seen part of their annual TRQ allocated to non-state trading enterprises. Enterprises that have obtained trading right through registration may engage in the operation of non-state trading TRQ for the import of the above products, so long as they satisfy the requirements and conditions listed in MOFCOM's annual Announcement on publishing the quantity of TRQ and methods for the TRQ's allocation.

With regard to import of crude oil and processed oil, enterprises that have obtained trading right through registration may engage in the operation of non-state trading part of the import, after getting registered according to Trial Measures for the State Trading Administration of the Import of Crude Oil, Processed Oil and Chemical Fertilizer (MOFTEC Decree No.27 of 2002) and so long as they satisfy the conditions listed in the annual announcements of non-state trading volume and application procedures.

The import of tobacco can only be completed by state trading enterprises.

In the products of which the export is currently subject to state trading administration, i.e. rice, maize, cotton, coal, crude oil, processed oil (excluding lubricating oil, grease, lubricating base oil), tungsten, antimony and silver listed in Annex 2A2 of the Protocol on the Accession of the People's Republic of China, as well as tobacco, rice, maize, cotton, coal, crude oil and tobacco can only be exported by state trading enterprises, and no annual review of qualification of state trading of enterprises is needed. Processed oil could be exported by non-state trading enterprises.

Tungsten, antimony and silver can only be exported by state trading enterprises, and the qualification of state trading enterprises is reviewed bi-annually. Enterprises that satisfy the conditions and requirements listed in MOFCOM's relevant announcements regarding such review may apply to be qualified as state trading enterprises.

Please refer to the reply to Question 2(B) for the legal basis for the engagement of non-state trading enterprises in the import and export of products subject to state trading administration.

D. How import/export levels are established by the state trading enterprise

State trading enterprises are operated following market mechanism. State trading enterprises determine by themselves the import level of wheat, maize, rice, sugar, cotton and chemical fertilizer taking into account the domestic supply and the prices of both domestic and international markets among other factors.

State trading enterprises determine by themselves the import level of crude oil and processed oil taking into account the domestic supply and the prices of both domestic and international markets among other factors.

Quota license administration applies to the export of rice, maize, cotton, coal, crude oil, and processed oil (excluding lubricating oil, grease, lubricating base oil). Each state trading enterprise determines its export level within its licensed quota, according to market supply and demand, as well as prices and other factors.

State trading enterprises which import/export tobacco determine their import/export level through commercial negotiations taking into account the supply capacity of domestic and international markets as well as the acceptability of enterprises.

E. How export prices are determined

State trading enterprises are operated following market mechanism. Export prices of state trading enterprises are determined by such enterprises themselves according to the prices of international market and the supply in domestic market, and by referring to the cost prices plus circulation expenses such as fees for warehousing, transportation, bank interests and inspection, etc.

F. How the resale prices of imported products are determined

State trading enterprises are operated following market mechanism. When state trading enterprises act as import agents of other enterprises, resale prices of import merchandise are roughly the import CIF prices plus agent service fees of a certain proportion, without any import mark-up. When state trading enterprises conduct import for themselves, the resale prices are mainly determined by such enterprises themselves according to the wholesale prices of domestic market, the enterprises assume sole responsibility for their own profits and losses.

*G. Whether long-term contracts are negotiated by the state trading enterprise.
Whether the state trading enterprise is used to fulfil contractual obligations entered into by the government.*

Long-term contracts are negotiated and signed independently by state trading enterprises. Currently, state trading enterprise is not used to fulfill contractual obligations entered into by the government.

H. Brief Description of Market Structure

Please refer to the following tables.
