DENMARK UNDERTAKES FURTHER LIBERALIZATION OF IMPORTS

The Danish authorities have informed the GATT secretariat that, as from 1 July 1963, liberalization of imports from countries within the Danish free-list area has been further extended. The newly-liberalized list of goods includes the following:

Lard, tallow and stearin for technical purposes; rubber for tyre treads ("camelback") and other rubber for tyre treads; reconstituted wood, in sheets, blocks or the like; wooden doors, door frames and window frames; bottles of a cubic content of 3 litres and less; metal gauze, netting and fencing; locks and padlocks*; refrigerators*; electrical generators and motors*; motor cars designed for the transport of more than 10 persons; cycles, not motorized.

*Applies to tariff sub-items under this heading which had not been previously liberalized.
