FRANCE, FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF GERMANY
LIBERALIZE IMPORTS OF EXPORT INTEREST TO LESS-DEVELOPED COUNTRIES

The list of products which were liberalized when imported into France, effective 7 June 1964 (press release GATT/875) comprised twenty-seven tariff items. A number of these products have been identified by Committee III of the GATT Trade Expansion Programme as being of special export interest to less-developed countries. Among these are castor oil, walnuts, chewing gum, frozen fruit, certain fruit juices, carpets and rugs, specified knitted or crocheted fabric, travelling rugs and blankets, specified ferro-manganese, specified base metals, scissors, certain parts for motor cycles, gymnasium and athletic equipment.

As of 3 June 1964 the Federal Republic of Germany liberalized import controls on neat leather, which is a product identified as of special export interest to less-developed countries.
