DRAFT INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION FOR THE PURPOSE OF FACILITATING THE IMPORTATION OF COMMERCIAL SAMPLES AND ADVERTISING MATERIAL

The Governments signatories to the present Convention

Believing that the adoption of uniform regulations regarding the importation of samples and advertising matter would promote the expansion of international trade,

Have agreed as follows:

ARTICLE I

For the purposes of the present Convention:

(a) the term "import duties" means customs duties and all other duties and taxes payable on or in connection with importation, such as, and shall include all internal taxes, excise duties and statistical taxes and import taxes, but not including chargeable on imported goods, but shall not include fees and charges which are limited in amount to the approximate cost of services rendered and do not represent an indirect protection to domestic products or a taxation of imports for fiscal purposes; and
(b) references to the territory of a Contracting Party include its metropolitan territory and any territory for whose international relations it is responsible and to which the Convention extends in accordance with Article XIII.

ARTICLE II

1. Each Contracting Party shall exempt from import duties samples of goods of all kinds imported into its territory, provided such samples are of negligible value, are not to be sold, and are only to be used for soliciting orders for similar goods with a view to their importation into that territory.

2. The customs authorities of the territory of importation may require that, as a condition of their being exempted from import duties in accordance with paragraph 1 of this Article, samples shall be made useless by tearing, perforation or other treatment, but not, however, so as to destroy their value as samples.

3. This article shall not apply to samples made up on behalf of a manufacturer or trader established in the territory into which they are imported.

ARTICLE III

1. For the purposes of this Article, the term "samples" means articles which:

   (a) are representative of a particular category of goods already produced or are examples of goods the production of which is contemplated, and

   (b) that they are not of such quantity or value that, taken as a whole, they no longer constitute samples; and

   (c) that they have not been produced abroad on behalf of a manufacturer or trader established in the territory of importation.

   (b) are owned abroad and are consigned to the territory of importation solely for the purpose of being shown there for the soliciting of orders for goods to be supplied from abroad to the territory of importation, and

   (c) are not sold, intended to be sold, offered for sale, put to normal use or used in any way for hire or reward in the territory of importation, and

   (d) are intended to be re-exported in due course, and

   (e) that they are such that they can be duly identified and are capable of identification on re-exportation.
2. Samples which are chargeable with import duties shall, when imported, from the territory of another Contracting Party, with or without the intervention of a commercial traveller, by a manufacturer or trader established in the territory of any Contracting Party, be temporarily admitted into the territory of any of the Contracting Parties free of import duties, subject to the amount of the import duties and any other amount that may be payable pursuant to Article VI being deposited or security being given for payment if necessary.

3. To obtain this privilege manufacturers, traders and commercial travellers must comply with the relevant laws, regulations and customs formalities prescribed by the authorities of the territory into which the samples are imported. These laws and regulations may require the manufacturer, trader or commercial traveller to be in possession of an identity card as provided in paragraphs 7 and 8.

4. The customs authorities of any of the Contracting Parties shall, so far as practicable, recognise as sufficient for the future identification of samples the customs marks which have been affixed by the customs authorities of any other Contracting Party, provided that the said samples are accompanied by a descriptive list certified by the customs authorities of the latter contracting party. Additional marks may be affixed to the samples by the customs authorities of the territory into which they are imported in all cases in which the latter consider this additional guarantee indispensable for ensuring only if they are necessary, in the opinion of those authorities, to ensure the identification of the samples on re-exportation.

5. The period allowed for re-exportation of samples in order to qualify for exemption from import duties under this Article shall be not less than six months. When the period allowed for re-exportation has expired, the amount of the import duties and any other amount due shall be payable on samples which have not been re-exported.

6. The refund of duties and any other amount paid on importation, or the release of the security for payment of duties and any other amount, on the re-exportation within the permitted time of samples imported under this Article, the refund of any amount deposited or the release of any security given on importation in accordance with paragraph 2 of this Article shall be effected without delay at any of the customs offices situated at the frontier or in the interior of the territory which possesses the necessary authority, and subject to the deduction of the duties and any other amount payable on samples not produced for re-exportation. Each Contracting Party shall publish a list of the customs offices on which the said authority has been conferred.

7. Where identity cards are required for the purposes of this Convention they must conform to the specimen annexed to this Convention, and be delivered by an authority designated for this purpose by the Contracting Party in whose territory the manufacturer or trader has his business headquarters. Subject to reciprocity, no consular or other visa shall be required on identity cards unless a Contracting Party shows that such a requirement is rendered necessary by special or exceptional circumstances. When a visa is required its costs shall be as low as possible and shall not exceed the cost of the service.
8. Each Contracting Party shall, as soon as possible, communicate direct to the other Contracting Parties, and also to the Secretary-General of the United Nations, a list of the authorities recognised as competent to issue identity cards.
