DOCUMENTARY REQUIREMENTS FOR THE IMPORTATION OF GOODS

Reports received from the Contracting Parties

BURMA

The practice in this country is in every respect in accordance with the recommendations.

DENMARK

1. Documents required.

(a) Foreign invoice.
(b) Shipping documents such as bills of lading and consignment notes.
(c) Import licences are often required.
(d) On the basis of the import licence, a certificate is made out in duplicate; one serves as import certificate and the other as payments certificate.
(e) For goods which may be imported freely, certificates as stated under item (d) above are required, with the exception of import certificate.
(f) Importation of live animals, various animal products and meal of meat and bones is subject to permission from the Veterinary Directorate.
(g) Importation of plants and parts of plants is subject to certificate evidencing that such articles are free from any dangerous plant diseases.
(h) When goods subject to ad valorem duty are cleared through the customs, insurance documents must be submitted.

2. Combined invoice form.

Such forms are not required. It should be noted, however, that invoices made out to branches and sole distributors must contain a declaration about the wholesale price of the commodities invoiced at the time of exportation.

(a) On the basis of the import licence, a certificate is made out in duplicate. One serves as import licence and is subsequently used for statistical purposes; the other is used as a licence permitting payment to a foreign country.
(b) For goods which may be imported freely, certificates as indicated under item (a) above are required, with the exception of import licence.

(c) When goods which are subject to ad valorem duty are cleared through the customs, a duplicate of the invoice must be submitted to the Customs Authorities.

Certificates are required for statistical purposes for all imported commodities, cf. items 3 (a) and (b).

5. Tariff classification of goods.

Foreign exporters or shippers of goods imported into Denmark are not required to classify such goods under the Danish Tariff.

6. Weights and measures.

Specific weights and measures are not required for commercial documents.
