The Government of Brazil advises that it recognizes the advantages of a simplification of the documentation required for the imposition of goods but could not conform with the Recommendation of 7 November 1952 without damaging effects on the Brazilian administrative system.

As in 1953 and 1954 the Government of Indonesia advised as follows:

"Since 1 May 1951 consular invoices are required for the importation of goods from Singapore and until now these regulations are still valid. These invoices are issued by the Indonesian Consulate General at Singapore.

The fee collected for the consular invoices amounts to 0.4 per cent of the value of the goods without any limits."
