Dear Sir,

We are sending you under separate cover two copies of a provisional report of the Export Promotion Training Symposium (12-13 May 1966).

Since we would like to issue this document as an official Trade Centre pamphlet, which would be of considerable interest and utility to Export Promotion Services in developing countries and to course organizers in developed countries, we are taking the precaution of first circulating a provisional version of the report to all participants. We are of course anxious that each participant should be accurately reported, but it is also important that participants should be in agreement that what was said at a private meeting may now be published. It also goes without saying that participants may add to or change what they said, if they think this will result in a better or more interesting publication.

Could we therefore request you to make any required additions or amendments to the text, and return one copy to us as rapidly as possible, preferably within a period of ten days.

We thank you in advance for your co-operation.

Yours faithfully,

H.L. Jacobson
Director of the Centre
