Effects of Restrictions on Export Trade
(Reply to Question 5 of GATT/CP/39)

ADDENDUM

Pakistan

"Exports from Pakistan generally consist of raw materials which were in short supply in the markets of the world in the period under consideration. Any import restrictions imposed by Pakistan had therefore no direct effect upon the volume of exports from Pakistan. There is, however, evidence to show that restrictions on the import of certain goods like sports goods and surgical instruments in some countries affected adversely the export of these commodities from Pakistan."
