ADMINISTRATIVE AND FINANCIAL QUESTIONS

International Civil Service Commission

Note by the Director-General

1. After several years' study, the General Assembly of the United Nations decided at its twenty-ninth session on 17 December 1974 to set up an International Civil Service Commission. Under its statute (Annex I) the principal functions of the Commission relate to the establishment of conditions of service of staff, recommendations to the UN General Assembly on salary scales, post adjustment and allowances and determination and establishment of such allowances not requiring General Assembly approval. The Commission is also required to establish job classification standards and to make recommendations on standards of recruitment.

2. The Commission has been appointed by the United Nations General Assembly and the names of the fifteen members, two of whom are full-time, are given in Annex II. Although Geneva was considered earlier, the General Assembly has decided that the seat of the Commission shall be New York.

3. Organizations which have accepted the statute of the Commission in accordance with Article I of the statute are as follows: International Labour Office (ILO), Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), Universal Postal Union (UPU), World Meteorological Organization (WMO), Inter-Governmental Maritime Consultative Organization (ICCO), International Telecommunication Union (ITU), World Health Organization (WHO) and United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

4. At its first session in New York in May 1975 the Commission agreed on its rules of procedure and considered its future work programme. At its meeting in Geneva in August 1975 the Commission was primarily concerned with the first stage of its review of the UN salary system which it was requested to undertake by the UN General Assembly. It also considered a request from the Administrative Committee on Co-ordination (ACC) that the Commission examine urgently in the context of the post adjustment system on ACC proposal designed to bring relief to staff who have been most adversely affected by changes in exchange rates.

5. The powers referred to in paragraph 1 above are considerably wider than those of any previous UN organs. The Commission will decide, in fact, on a number of issues (all allowances and benefits other than those dependent on the General Assembly) which previously were subject to decisions by the Secretary-General of the United Nations and the Executive Heads of the other organizations applying the so-called UN Common System.
6. So long as GATT continues to apply the UN staff rules and regulations it will, even without formally accepting the statute of the Commission, be bound to apply all recommendations of the Commission approved by the UN General Assembly. As pointed out above, certain other functions of the Commission will result in derogation of the decision making from Executive Heads to the Commission. Furthermore, acceptance of the statute will also limit the ability of the CONTRACTING PARTIES to establish their own conditions of service for staff.

7. GATT has been assessed and requested to pay its share of the Commission's budget. The budget for the first year amounts to $615,204 and the GATT share amounts to $4,876. No payment has yet been made but authority is sought for GATT to pay its assessment provisionally until a final decision is made concerning GATT's relationship with the Commission.
