The last sentence of the paragraph should read:

"The reduction in imports in the major importing countries occurred despite significantly more liberal levels of access to these countries, particularly to the United States, Japan, Canada, and the European Economic Community."