The legal instruments embodying the results of the 1964-67 Trade Conference will be submitted to the Trade Negotiations Committee on 30 June, for formal authentication. For this purpose, they will be annexed to the Final Act of the Conference.

All participants in the negotiations will be expected to sign the Final Act on 30 June. It can be signed by accredited leaders or members of delegations participating in the Conference or by any other duly appointed representative; formal full powers will not be required.

Several instruments embodying the results of the negotiations are being prepared and will be annexed to the Final Act. These may be signed on 30 June by the representatives of governments which are prepared to accept them on that day, and representatives so instructed should submit their full powers to the Director-General not later than 29 June. The full powers should be in the form of a communication from the Head of State, Head of Government or Minister of Foreign Affairs, authorizing the representative to sign the instruments in question on behalf of his government. Alternatively, provisional full powers in the form of telegraphic instructions from the appropriate authority will be accepted.

Several protocols of accession will also be annexed to the Final Act, but these will not be open for signature until the voting procedures under Article XXXIII have been completed.
