In case of establishment of a failure to fulfill an undertaking provisional measures may be taken on grounds of existing data by the Board upon the proposal of the General Directorate.

SECTION FOUR

Dumping

Notion of Dumping

Article 14 - The importation in Turkey of a product exported from a country with a price lower than the normal value of an identical or similar product shall be considered as dumping and the determinations of a dumping shall be carried out within the context of the dispositions of the Articles provided under the present section.

PART ONE

Normal Value

Determination of the Normal Value

Article 15 - The normal value is a comparable price actually paid or payable in the ordinary course of trade for the identical or similar product consumed in the exporting country or the country of origin.
In case of absence of the sale of identical or similar product in the ordinary course of trade in the domestic market of the exporting country or the country of origin or in case such sales are not suitable for making a fair comparison, the comparable representative price of an identical or similar product exported to a third country or the price determined by adding a reasonable profit margin to the cost of production may be acceptable as normal value.

Calculation of the Cost of Production

Article 16 - The cost of production shall be calculated by adding a reasonable amount of the administrative, sales and other sundry expenses to fixed and variable expenses which include the material and production expenditures in the country of origin in the ordinary course of trade. The profit may not exceed such profit margins taken as a basis in the domestic market of the country of origin in the sales of an identical or similar product.

In case of unreliable data obtained from the cost of production calculation or where the exporter in the country of origin neither produces nor sells the said product in the domestic market, the prices or costs of other sellers and producers who produce or sell the identical or similar product in that country shall be taken into consideration.

In other cases the cost of production and the profit margin shall be calculated on a reasonable basis by utilizing available information.

Ordinary Course of Trade

Article 17 - Sales shall be deemed as not being made under ordinary course of trade whenever the true sales price of the identical or similar product in the domestic market of the country of origin shall be determined as being lower than its cost of production, such product is imported in substantial quantities in Turkey and the sales during the investigation period are not made on a price allowing for all expenses to be added to the cost of production.

In such event the normal value shall be the export price to third countries or the price to be obtained by adding a reasonable profit margin to the cost of production or by adding a reasonable profit margin to a selling price corresponding to the lowest cost of production in the domestic market or to an amount which offsets the loss occurred on account of sales made below the cost of production.
The dispositions of above paragraphs shall also apply in case of existence of association or a similar arrangement between the parties influencing the prices or the costs.

Available informations shall be utilized in the calculation of the normal value pursuant to the present Article.

State Trading Countries

Article 18 - For the purposes of importations from countries enumerated as State Trading Countries in the Importation Régime Decree and other states not applying free market economy, the normal value shall be calculated by taking into account anyone of below mentioned criteria:

a) The price on which the identical or similar product is actually sold for consumption purposes in the domestic market of a market economy third country,

b) The price determined by adding a reasonable profit margin to the cost of production of the identical or similar product in a market economy third country,

c) In cases prices indicated under paragraphs (a) and (b) above do not form an appropriate basis, the price actually paid or payable for the identical or similar product in Turkey adjusted in a manner to include a reasonable profit margin.

Macro-economic data shall be utilized in the selection of the market economy third country.

Other Cases in the Determination of the Normal Value

Article 19 - In case of a product imported not directly from the country of origin but from an intermediate country, the normal value is the comparable price actually paid or payable for the identical or similar product in the domestic market of the exporting country or the country of origin.

In cases where the product is loaded only in transit through the exporting country, is not produced in the exporting country or the comparable price for that product does not exist in the exporting country, the price in the country of origin may be taken as a basis.
PART TWO
Export Price

Determination of the Export Price

Article 20 - The export price is the price actually paid or payable for the products sold for exportation purposes.

In case of non-existence of the export price or the establishment of a beneficial association or similar arrangement between the exporter and importer or a third party or a price actually paid or payable for the product sold for exportation purposes being unreliable by any other reasons whatsoever, the price on which the product is resold to a third party purchaser not having any relationship with the exporter may be taken as basis.

If the product is not resold to such purchaser or not sold under such qualifications and terms it is imported, the export price may be calculated on any basis which may be considered reasonable.

In such occurrences all costs and expenses incurred in between the importation and the resale, including the customs duties and other duties, as well as a reasonable profit margin shall be taken into consideration.

Matters to be Taken Into Consideration in the Determination of the Export Price

Article 21 - The following items shall be taken into consideration in the researches relating to the determination of the export price:

- usual transportation, insurance, handling and loading expenses and ancillary expenses,

- customs duties, anti-dumping duties, countervailing duties and other taxes as well as additional fiscal obligations due to be paid in the importing country on account of importation or the sale of products,

- a reasonable margin for overheads and profit and/or any commission usually paid or agreed.
SECTION FIVE
Comparison

Price Comparison

Article 22 - Closest possible dates shall be taken into consideration in the comparison of the normal value with the export price.

Following matters shall be taken into account in order to have the prices fairly compared, provided that such a request should be forwarded and documents evidencing the same are presented by the parties:

- physical characteristics,
- import charges and indirect taxes,
- selling expenses such as transportation, insurance, handling, loading charges and ancillary costs such as packing, credit, warranties, guarantees and other after-sales services depending on trading terms.

Averaging and Sampling Techniques

Article 23 - In case of variance of investigated prices normal value and the export price shall be calculated by using the weighted averages, sampling techniques and other statistical methods.

SECTION SIX
Subsidies

Notion of Subsidy

Article 24 - The provision of a direct or indirect benefit by the country of origin or exporting country to the firms in the production, manufacturing, export and transportation of a product exported to Turkey shall be deemed as subsidy.

The "Illustrative List on the Export Subsidies" referred to in the Annex to the Agreement on the Interpretation and Application of the Articles VI, XVI, and XXIII of General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade shall be taken into account in evaluations as to which cases shall be considered as being a subsidy and as to the calculation of the subsidy amount on itemized basis.

The exemption of the component items entering into the structure of the identical or similar product subject to export in the country of origin or exporting country from custom duties or indirect taxes or the refund of such duties and other disbursements shall not be deemed as being a subsidy.

Determination of the Subsidy

Article 25 - In case the establishment of a subsidy not made according to manufactured, produced, exported or transported quantities, the subsidy amount shall be calculated by the reasonable distribution of the subsidy value at the production and exportation level of the investigated product, within an adequate period of time. Usually such a period is the accounting year of the party availing of the subsidy.

In case of actual or contingent acquisition of fixed assets as subsidy, the subsidy value shall be calculated by deducting the ordinary amortization shares of such assets. In case of assets not subject to amortization, the subsidy shall be assessed as an interest free loan.

In case the information required during the course of the subsidy investigation is not submitted in accordance with produced, exported or transported quantities, the amount or the subsidy shall be calculated within the context of the imported quantity and the importation value of the said product as well as other information.

In importations from state trading countries, the amount of the subsidy shall be determined within the framework of matters set forth in Articles 18, 20, 21 and 22.

The weighted average method shall be used in cases of variance of subsidy amounts.

Deductions

Article 26 - Following items shall be deducted from the aggregate subsidy amount in the calculation of the subsidy amount:

a) charges for the application and other expenses made for profiting from the subsidy,
b) exportation taxes, customs duties and other similar fiscal obligations imposed on the product exported to Turkey for the purposes of reducing the subsidy and other additional fiscal obligations extraneous thereto.

The implementation of above deductions is contingent to the verification of the relevant party.

SECTION SEVEN

Notion of Injury

Article 27 - Shall be deemed as injury, the dumped and/or subsidized imports causing or threatening to cause material injury or market impairment or materially retarding the establishment of an industry due to dumping and/or subsidization.

An industry indicates all producers in Turkey of the identical or similar product or the producers realizing the substantial amount of the Turkish production for these products.

However, exceptionally, in case of producers having trade relations with the exporters or importers or being themselves the importers of the products allegedly dumped and/or subsidized, an industry shall mean the remaining portion of the producers.

Material Injury

Article 28 - The following factors shall be taken into account in the determination of material injury:

a) the volume dumped and/or subsidized imports, for the purpose of determining whether a significant increase particularly absolute or relative, occurred with respect to production and consumption in Turkey,

b) the prices of dumped and/or subsidized imports as to whether a significant price undercutting has been made with respect to the price of the identical or similar product in Turkey,
c) the effect of economic indices such as the following on the relevant industry;

- production,
- utilization of capacity,
- stocks,
- sales,
- market share,
- prices,
- profits,
- return on investment,
- cash flow,
- employment.

Material Injury Threat

Article 29 - The following shall be taken into consideration in the determination of the threat of material injury:

a) the export capacity actually available in or to be realized in the near future in the country of origin or the exporting country and the expected exports to Turkey,

b) the rate of increase of the dumped or subsidized exports to Turkey,

c) the nature of any subsidy and the effects likely to arise therefrom.

Effect of Injury

Article 30 - The effect of the dumped and/or subsidized imports on the domestic production of the identical or similar product shall be determined according to available data.

In case an identical or similar product could not be identified, the effects of the dumped and/or subsidized imports shall be evaluated through examination of the production of the closest product group including the product with necessary information available.
