On page 2 of document E/CONF.2/C.6/SR.14 substitute the following paragraph for the remarks made by Mr. Mondello (Italy):

"Mr. MONDELLO (Italy) explained that in view of the doubts of some countries not represented at the Preparatory Committee regarding the criteria for the Tariff Committee's decisions and their revision under Article 89, paragraph (c), his delegation had suggested an amendment to the text of Article 81. It consisted of two parts: First, the criterion for the decisions to be taken by the Tariff Committee, which he suggested to be the principle of not inflicting an unfair injury in taking decisions according to Article 17. Although Italy would probably not be affected directly, it felt that the matter was important to other countries. The formula suggested was of a general character and similar to that provided in Article 90, paragraph 4; Article 91, paragraph 4; and Article 93, Alternative A, paragraph 2. The second part of the amendment concerns revision by the International Court of Justice of the Tariff Committee's decisions; it was to make clear, in the Charter, that should the decisions of the Tariff Committee not be subject to the revisions of the Conference, they ought, in such a case, to be at least subject to the Hague Court's revision."
