The delegation of Colombia proposes to amend paragraph 4 of Article 90 as follows:

"4. If the Conference considers that the circumstances are serious enough the nullification or impairment referred to in Article 89 in fact exists and is sufficiently serious to justify such action, it may authorize a Member or Members to suspend the application to any other Member or Members of such obligations or concessions under or pursuant to the Charter as the Conference determines to be appropriate only to such an extent as the Conference considers to be a compensatory measure, having regard to the benefit which has been nullified or impaired. If the application to any Member . . . ."

The delegation of Colombia also proposes to add a new paragraph 5 reading as follows:

"5. When giving a decision under this Article, the Conference shall take into account whether the Member being deprived from a benefit or concession in accordance with paragraph 4, has or has not failed to fulfill its obligations under this Charter."
