Freedom of Transit (Article 10 - paragraph 5)

We are in agreement with the provision in this paragraph except that at the end we would like to propose to add a proviso, namely:

"Provided that the products which have been in transit can be identified at their destination to the satisfaction of local customs authorities as to their origin or country of export."

On Countervailing Duties (Article 11 - paragraph 2)

In this paragraph (Article 11 - paragraph 2) we propose that the provision be amplified to include the following:

"In the event of preferential treatment being accorded by a country to certain countries to the exclusion of other member countries, no countervailing duty shall be imposed upon the products imported from such other member countries against subsidies which are granted by the latter to such products as compensation for covering the preferential margin."

On Tariff Valuation (Article 12 - paragraph 2a).

We have no objection to the principle embodied in the provision of this paragraph. We deem it imperative, however, that during the period of transition adequate allowance should be accorded to the countries in which monetary stability has not yet been achieved.

We wish also to reserve our decision on the question of "actual value" prescribed in paragraph 2c of this Article.
On General Exceptions - '(Article 32)

We propose to add the following as exception (f):

"(measures) temporarily imposed to prevent, arrest, or relieve conditions of social disturbance, natural calamity or other national emergencies, provided that such measures are withdrawn as soon as the said conditions cease to exist."
