5.	Title and number of pages of the notified document: Decree No. 79/1994 of the Slovak Office of Standards, Metrology and Testing of 7 November 1994 coming into force on 1 January 1995
6.	Description of content: List of Standards or Articles that remain compulsory after 1 January 1995
7.	Objective and rationale: In accordance with Act No. 142/91 in tenor to No. 632/92, all technical Standards approved before 31 May will be abandoned. It represents 92 per cent of the whole system of national Standards. As these Standards include the provisions of regulatory sphere currently not regulated by any other technical regulations (they do not exist due to the existing system of mandatory Standards supplying technical regulations in all necessary fields), there is a need to solve the problem through the temporary endorsement of systematic measures, i.e. to ensure relevant protection of health, environment and safety at work with the declarations of responsible ministries, declarations containing lists of Standards, or Articles of Standards that have to remain compulsory, until the responsible Ministries adopt missing technical regulations. The notified Decree is a summary of these declarations and temporary measures.
