Date of acceptance of complaint. The period between the submission of a complaint and its acceptance is three months on average, during which the prior investigation is conducted.

The procedure lays down two provisional courses of action. The first, put into action on receipt of the complaint on compliance, may entail the imposition of an anti-dumping duty or merely a formal declaration that the investigation is being opened. However, the first option has not been used since 1989. The second is a routine official review by the authority to confirm, amend or reverse the first.

Notes:
1. The latest anti-dumping measure applied.
2. Trade volume based on statistical data for the latest available calendar year prior to initiation (January-December 1989). The trade volume consists of imports plus exports. The values in brackets represent imports actually effected.
3. Percentage, or amount per unit, as appropriate.
4. Declaration that investigation is being opened without imposition of quota.
5. Countervailing quota repealed; investigation continuing.
6. The values in brackets represent imports from the country under investigation in relation to total imports (January-December 1989).
